From California—The Death of Col. Baker in that State.

San Francisco, Oct. 27, 1261.

The announcement of the completion of the telegraph at 7 o clock last evening sent a thrill of joy through the community. Preparations for firing a salute, and other demonstrations in honor of the event, were in readiness, when the dispatch from the East announced the death of Col. Baker, whom alrost every citizen here regarded as a personal friend. Universal joy was thus changed to sorrow, and the celebration postponed.

Politicians in well-informed Oregon matters express the opinion that Benj. Starke of Portland, will be sppointed to succeed Col. Baker in the Senate. His sympathies are Secession.

Gen. Lane is advertised to run, without much hope of success.
